What Is Black History Month?

- Black History Month was created to focus attention on the contributions of African Americans to the United States. It honors all Black people from all periods of U.S. history, from the enslaved people first brought over from Africa in the early 17th century to African Americans living in the United States today. We celebrate Black History Month because during we show the importance to Black Lives. Years ago, Black People got judged for being Black and now it's different, but some countries still do take a big deal of that.

How Might It Feel When They Are Being Judged ?

Like that don't ever judge someone by their skin or personalities. Talk to them get to know hem very well don't just chuck them away because they might be better than you think the way they are.

Being Black is not a bad thing. Some people look at people skins and judge them that they might be a thief, or they look like someone who would do something so dramatic when they are truly innocent. That is why there is a phrase that so many people say is this' Never Judge A Book By Its Cover'

It is an amazing phrase, and it has a meaning to it that you shouldn't get a book and look at it and say that it is not interesting and put the book back actually read the Book and read the chapters.

BLACK LIVES MATTER

Don't judge them, You know their name but not their Story.
